About New Roshni Industries

New Roshni Industries was established in the year 1994 in Rajkot, Gujarat, India. We are a manufacturer and supplier of stainless steel baby cradles, copper baby cradles and a lot more.

The products of our company are made with quality-assured raw materials and are tested at every stage to ensure that they meet the needs of our customers.

Our Team

We work as a family which indicates a healthy working environment. We have experienced engineers and other personnel whose experience, expertise and hard work help in manufacturing a diverse range of conveyor belts effectively and efficiently.

Our quality supervisors undertake an inspection of the entire process and stringently monitor every step of production to see whether the belts are manufactured as per the industry regulations or not. It is their responsibility that only faultless belts reach the market. The team of sales and marketing are well versed with market dynamics and cater to various range related queries of our clients.

We strongly believe in giving mutual respect to all our team members, which is why we instil motivation in all employees to boost their morale. Further, to enhance the efficiency level of the team members, we conduct regular training sessions and seminars so that they can remain abreast with the latest developments.
