About Sharp (india)

It all started during the turbulent and politically volatile era of West Bengal in the early 70s. Our Founder Director, Mr. S. P. Mukherjee, a dynamic person with foresight and aplenty laid the foundation of SHARP (INDIA) in the year 1971. The brain child of his, with strength of only 3 people then, had moved up rapidly during the last 40 years and had gained in stature, diversifying from a small fabrication unit to a Designing & manufacturing set up of repute in the field of Air Pollution controlling Equipment, garnering even the faith of leading Indian firms including multinational companies. Also keeping pace with the technological advancements, the initial Belt Guard fabricator of the 70s now caters to the industry needs by delivering the most sophisticated equipment required for Air Pollution Control. Now, Sharp (India) is recognized for delivering higher quality of systems and products catering to the need of industries for pollution control. The reduced cycle time required at SEEPL ultimately lower the overall costs. We achieve this because we have developed several unique strengths. Including:-

- The approach incorporates several proven development methodologies accrued over four decades of operation with customer feedback report.
- Our Custom Build project team always oversee competitive advantage based on individual requirement of client
- The key to success is rigorous input management, planning and quality control process
- Our reputation is for helping client to realize bottom line business benefits from investment and their obligation to sustain stringent statutory norms for social cause.
- A specialized and dedicated workforce with fully modern amenities helps the project to achieve the goal in stipulated time frame.
